Lectio Divina

Lectio Divina (literal meaning: "divine reading") is an ancient practice of praying the Scriptures. During Lectio Divina, the person listens to the text of the Bible with the "ear of the heart," as if he or she is in conversation with God and God is suggesting topics for discussion. Lectio Divina is a monastic way of praying the Scriptures that opens us to the word of God at ever deepening levels.

Come and learn this ancient prayer form on Sunday, January 17 from 1-3PM in the James Eagen Room. Our presenter will be Therese Saulnier.

Did You Know...?

After the Nativity of Christ (Christmas) was separated out from Epiphany, the Church in the West continued the process and dedicated a celebration to each of the major epiphanies (revelations) or theophanies (the revelation of God to man): the Birth of Christ at Christmas, which revealed Christ to Israel; the revelation of Christ to the Gentiles in the visit of the Wise Men at the Epiphany; the Baptism of the Lord, which revealed the Trinity; and the miracle at the wedding at Cana, which revealed Christ's transformation of the world.

Weekly Prayer

O God, whose only-begotten Son has appeared in the substance of our flesh, grant, we beseech you that we may be inwardly made in a new form by Him whose form we have known to be outwardly like ours. Who with you lives and reigns in the unity of the Holy Spirit, God, world without end. Amen.

Feast Day January 13

St. Hilary (315?-368)

SAINT OF THE WEEK

This staunch defender of the divinity of Christ was a gentle and courteous man, devoted to writing some of the greatest theology on the Trinity, and was like his master in being labeled a “disturber of the peace.” In a very troubled period in the Church, his holiness was lived out in both scholarship and controversy.

Raised a pagan, he was converted to Christianity when he met his God of nature in the Scriptures. His wife was still living when he was chosen, against his will, to be the bishop of Poitiers in France. He was soon taken up with battling what became the scourge of the 4th century, Arianism, which denied the divinity of Christ.

The heresy spread rapidly. When Emperor Constantius ordered all the bishops of the West to sign a condemnation of Athanasius, the great defender of the faith in the East, Hilary refused and was banished from France to far-off Phrygia ( in modern-day Turkey). Eventually he was called the “Athanasius of the West.” While writing in exile, he was invited by some semi-Arians to a council the emperor called to counteract the Council of Nicea. But Hilary predictably defended the Church, and when he sought public debate with the heretical bishop who had exiled him, the Arians, dreading the meeting and its outcome, pleaded with the emperor to send this troublemaker home. Hilary was welcomed by his people.
